Surprising Ways To Use Household Objects For Intense Pleasure

HANDY ACCESSORIES: WHEN TO SPLURGE

Sometimes it's just better for everyone involved if you go ahead and buy the real toy. There are some things that toys can do that you just can't make at home and be safe! But there are a lot of things you can create to get by without access to adult toys that may not have occurred to you.

Your basic toys should consist of things for a variety of occasions and orifices, something for vaginal penetration, something for anal, something for you to penetrate, something to clasp a ring around your member or testicles, clips or clamps for light pain, ropes or scarves for bondage... the options are almost endless if you enjoy a bit of kink.

SAFETY

Regardless, any kind of sex play with props requires some thoughts to safety. Be very careful and be sure you think about what you're doing and do a bit of research on the safety of your materials. Think about the possible hazards. Ask questions.

Be sure that anything you use is clean and free of any allergens or other irritating materials. Even many sex toys contain harmful or toxic ingredients, so do your homework. Be careful of pesticides on any food products. Go organic! Avoid animal products, unless it's a bit of yogurt for your partner to cure a yeast infection.

Many people also have mild to moderate allergic reactions to products like rubber, latex, spermicide, and even some natural ingredients. Penile, vaginal and anal tissues are incredibly sensitive! Take caution and care. Using a condom is important for many items, and if you have environmental allergies, be careful of field vegetables as well.

Anal toys need to be very specifically shaped. Things that could break off in the anus and be difficult to expel are problematic. Traditional butt plugs and the shape they take are that way for a reason, slimmed and then flared at the base to prevent the plug from getting lost.

ANAL TOYS NEED TO BE VERY SPECIFICALLY SHAPED. THINGS THAT COULD BREAK OFF IN THE ANUS AND BE DIFFICULT TO EXPEL ARE PROBLEMATIC.

FOOD

Stay clear of sugary food which can cause yeast infections and urinary tract infections. Dildo Popsicles are a fun idea, but keep 'em sheathed!

If you have access to silicone molding compound, you can create mold to use for creating not just Popsicles, but wax, clay, or other sculpting material. If you don't have a dildo to get started, you can make a mold of your own penis and give her a toy shaped just like you!

BANANA BUDDY

This is a simple homemade dildo with household items that you can find at any corner or grocery store. She can whip this up in no time and have a handy friend to bring to bed. Be sure your banana is nice and firm, not overly ripe. The firmer the flesh of the fruit, the less it needs to be frozen in order to be properly inserted.

Materials:

- one firm banana, not over ripe, peeled
- one condom, lubricated or not
- water-based or silicone lube

Peel a banana and slide a condom onto the fruit. If you need it to be a bit harder, stick it in the freezer for a while to solidify into a firm phallic shape.

When your banana dildo is ready to come out of the freezer, use a silicone lube to help smooth the ride and prevent frostbite on her tender bits.

VEGGIE VIBE

Phallic foods are great as regular dildos, but they also make excellent sheaths and extensions for your slim-line, pocket or bullet vibrators.

Materials:

- A large cucumber, eggplant, zucchini or other produce for penetration
- One vibrator, slim enough to fit inside the veggie without it falling apart
- A knife or other instrument to hollow out the fruit
- One condom

Avoid using anything pointy, like a carrot, which might bruise her cervix. Let the produce come to room temperature and use your knife to hollow out the inside just enough to slide your vibrator into the hole. Use a waterproof vibrator for these toys to prevent burn out or water damage from the veggies.

Cover the toy with a condom, turn on the vibe and enjoy!

BONUS: Slide a piece of celery or other stiff veggie in at the base of the dildo so that it rubs against her clit during penetration.

DOUBLE BONUS FOR HIM: Hollow out something bigger, like a melon or a papaya, and then bury a small bullet vibe in the end. Go to town!

THE MELON BALL

Take the vibrating veggie toy a few steps further! The melon acts as a base which can be held between the feet or the knees so that the dildo can be pumped. A little fancy carving work allows you to add additional clitoral stimulation too.

Materials:

- one long cucumber sized for insertion
- one musk melon big enough to use as a base
- sharp knife for cutting and carving
- one or two bullet vibrators

THE MELON ACTS AS A BASE WHICH CAN BE HELD BETWEEN THE FEET OR THE KNEES SO THAT THE DILDO CAN BE PUMPED.

Cut a large hole in the melon rind and scoop out enough of the inside to insert your vibrating cucumber into the hole deep enough that it stays put. Small, water resistant bullet vibes are best for this project to keep cords out of the way.

Alternatively to waterproof bullet vibes, you can put vibrating cock rings on the cucumber shafts.

If you want to bump up the sensation levels, cut one end of the cucumber off, about 1/3 of the entire length. Decorate this end with ridges or bumps for texture. Embed one vibe in this piece and embed the piece in the top of the melon.

The longer piece of the cucumber can be inserted into the melon two or three inches away at an angle so that your lover can ride the melon with her clit up against the other nub. With one vibe in each she is sure to find this little biodegradable toy a great ride!

Be sure to wash all your fruits and veggies beforehand and don't leave your vibes inside the veggies. You may be able to keep a toy like this for a day or three in the fridge, but there's no reason you can't just add them to the compost heap when you're done and pick some more from your vines tomorrow.

AT THE STORE

There are dozens of little goodies you can find at your local discount store, but keep in mind that many of the materials here are about as safe and healthy as the cheapest of sex toys, so play safe and use condoms when you can.

If you've been playing with food, you can start with a more permanent solution from the discount store, plastic fruit! It's a lot less obvious than a dildo and last a lot longer than anything you can grow in your garden, that's for sure.

Kids toys like the "rubber snake" make for a great dildo. Noise-making hand clappers and fly-swatting electric or plastic slappers make great playful BDSM toys. You can find stretchy rubber ring toys that can double as cock rings, especially for holding bullet vibes in place on your veggie dildos. Tiny soft vinyl traffic cones work well as vaginal dilators. In the household section you will find that clothespins and fridge magnet clips make excellent nipple clamps!

IF YOU'VE BEEN PLAYING WITH FOOD, YOU CAN START WITH A MORE PERMANENT SOLUTION FROM THE DISCOUNT STORE, PLASTIC FRUIT!

Magnets especially allow you to attach extra weights, if she's into that sort of things. You might even get lucky and find something like a rubber stamp with a bulbous handle and flared based with curved edges which allow for comfortable anal insertion. Hairbrushes are great not just for penetration but a bit of ass slapping as well... scrub brushes too.

You can find vibrating things as well – toothbrushes and electric shavers, magic erasers, pagers and cell phones, kid's toys, etc. are all great choices. In addition, pulsating or variable setting shower heads make great accessories for playing in the bath. Obviously, back massagers can be picked up at department stores discretely and make wonderful vibrators.

Hit up the baby toy section of the store for aisle after aisle of toys that could easily pass for sexy accessories and will be made out of higher quality materials than many regular sex toys.

FOR HER

You can make sex toys at home with many other items easily found at the store that can be permanent fixtures or easily disposable.

BLANKIE

A favorite blanket can be twisted or bunched up and held taught by your lover between her feet and her hands. With the blanket between her legs, she can rock back and forth, using her pelvic muscles to rub the blanket back and forth against her clit.

Be sure to use something Washable!

BEACH PARTY

Fill a small beach ball about half way with air. Your lover can sit on the beach ball, on the couch or up against the headboard, and bounce or rock against it as she squeezes it between her thighs. If she has a hard time keeping the ball in place, it can be stuffed inside a pair of pantyhose and ridden.

If the ball is blown up too tightly, a good squeeze will pop it, so be careful! If she's into danger, this is a great little toy, because she never knows when it might blow!

BALLOONS

The ultimate disposable toy, this great little bedtime buddy is a great, inconspicuous and unique sensory experience for men and women alike, makes a great erotic massage accessory, and is especially amazing way to get her off with simple ingredients – a balloon, some water, and some lube.

HAIRBRUSHES
NOT
PENETRATION
BUT A BIT OF
ASS SLAPPING
AS WELL...
SCRUB
TOO.

Fill a balloon with warm water, not too big, and tie the end tightly. Cover the balloon with a slick oil or lube and rub, rub, rub against your lover's clitoris. The smooth sensation will be especially pleasurable on freshly shaven skin.

FOR HIM

Toys for boys aren't just for solo, single guys. A man who knows how to pleasure himself is a man that can learn to pleasure his woman. Toys Besides, if you're going to be making cool toys for your wife to play with, why not make one or two for yourself?

Masturbation gives you the chance to practice building stamina and learning to last longer, so remind your wife of this fact if she is bothered by your toy-making. If you make a few toys for her first before you get to work on your own toys. It should help keep her mind and body occupied while you play.

A MAN WHO KNOWS
HOW TO PLEASURE HIMSELF
IS A MAN THAT CAN LEARN
TO PLEASURE HIS WOMAN.

MORE MELONS

Melons aren't just great bases for her toys, they make wonderful receivers for your penetration as well! Get in the game by warming the fruit up to body temperature so it feels as warm and gooey as the real deal. Use fruits from your garden for extra inexpensive sexy fun.

Materials:

- one large melon (watermelon, musk melon, honeydew, etc.)
- lube of your choice

Cut a round hole just big enough for your erect penis in the rind of a melon, then scoop out just a little bit of the insides. Don't take out too much – you want to fit to be tight.

Heat the melon slightly in the microwave or an oven, or even just in the sun. When it's warm, but not too hot (test it first!) then squirt in some lube. Go ahead and stick it in. Enjoy!

BONUS: Poke a long, thin hole from the other side of the melon all the way to the hole. Reach around to the other side of the melon and keep your finger by the hole. After insertion, put your finger over the hole and pull out. Release your finger on the in stroke, replace it on the out stroke. The pressure gives you some suction which can mimic the feeling of oral sex!

PILLOW PUSSY

This makes a great toy for working up your stamina and lasting longer, and your lover can fill up a balloon of her own and you can masturbate together.

Materials:

- 4 or 5 reasonably sized balloons
- one large pillow protected with a plastic bag or vinyl sheet
- a belt or piece of soft rope to hold the pillow
- lube of your choice

Fill the balloons, not too tight, with warm water at a comfortable body temperature. Roll up your pillow into a tube and tie a string around it to keep it secure. Shove the water balloons into the hole of this tube and lube it up! You may want to use a vinyl sheet or some plastic wrap to protect the pillowcase from lubricant and other fluids.

Place the pillow on a surface like the bed or a table where she can hold on to the other and and thrust away! Rocking, grooving, and grinding her hips into the ball could get her to orgasm in no time.

THE TUBE

These are some very simple materials and you can whip it up in just a minute or two.

Homemade Sex Toys

Surprising Ways To Use Household Objects For Intense Pleasure

Materials:

- an old cardboard toilet paper or paper towel tube
- one condom
- lube of your choice

Unroll the condom inside the tube and fold the opening over the end of the paper roll. Add some lube to the condom and insert your penis. Pinch and pull on the tip of the condom while you thrust to increase the pressure and make it feel a bit more like a blow job.

LIKE A GLOVE

Another simple solution to your masturbation needs.

Materials:

- an old, clean sock
- a condom or a latex glove
- lube of your choice

Roll up the sock like a donut and shove the glove inside of it. Roll the ends of the glove around the outside of the sock and squirt some lube in your eyes. You can hold onto it, or tie it up inside a pillow, place it between your mattresses and get pumping!

The sock can also be stuffed inside a tube, like a shampoo bottle with the top cut off, or an empty plastic or cardboard chip sleeve. By popping a small hole in the end of your condom or one finger of your glove (and the end of the container) gives you the means to create a pressure build up.

You might be noticing a pattern! Container, soft sensation, lubrication, suction and pressure – these are the factors you can manipulate and control to make a sex toy out of just about anything!

BY POPPING A SMALL HOLE
IN THE END OF YOUR
CONDOM OR ONE FINGER
OF YOUR GLOVE (AND THE
END OF THE CONTAINER)
GIVES YOU THE MEANS TO
CREATE A PRESSURE BUILD UP.

SUPER SIMPLE

You can make the same device even simpler.

Materials:

- a plastic bag
- lube

Lube up the inside a simple plastic bag, between your cushions of your couch, your mattress and box spring, or simply hold it in your hands.

THE CUP

This is a great little suction device using household kitchen products. Only use an unbreakable plastic or metal cup! It could be dangerous if you choose glass or something brittle.

Materials:

- a large unbreakable cup
- two or more wet sponges

Wet and wring out the sponges so they are damp but not leaking wet. Place them into the cup so they cover the entire inner edges and squirt some lube between them. Insert and enjoy!

BUBBLES

Have some extra bubble wrap lying around?
Make your own hand-held masturbator!

Materials:

- one large sheet of bubble wrap
- duck tape or packing tape
- lube

Roll up the bubble wrap into a tight tube, bubble side in. Wrap with tape to keep it in place and fill with lube. You can hold this in hand or put it between cushions or mattresses.

Homemade Sex Toys

FOAM RUBBER

This is a great alternative to male masturbator toys like the Fleshlight and other “pocket pussies” on the market. Try it for yourself!

Materials:

- empty chip can or shampoo bottle with the top cut off
- a 9 x 9” sheet of 1 inch foam rubber
- an “o-ring” or other cock ring style accessory

Cut the foam so it’s just longer than the end of the tube. Unroll the condom and drop the o-ring inside of it along with a bit of lube.

Lay the condom inside the foam and cut it into two pieces along the edge where the condom reaches. Put the shorter of the two pieces inside the container, then wrap the left over piece around the condom so that the o-ring sticks out one end and lies flat against it, while the top of the condom sticks out the other end.

Make a tiny nip in the tip of the condom just enough for air to get in and out. Shove the rest of the foam inside the tube. Make an air hole in the bottom of the chip canister for suction. Stretch the opening of the condom over the edge of the canister to keep it in place – use an elastic if you must.

Squirt a water-based lube into the tube and go to town! Use the air hole on the end to control suction.

STORAGE

While there are plenty of options for storing your sex toys, your choice will really depend on your needs. Simple boxes, craft cases, and even the bedroom drawer may suffice... but what if you want to get creative?

Try a few of these on for size:

- tool belt for all your easy-access toys, condoms and lube
- a spice rack to hold all your dildos
- a tackle box for all your little bits
- a hanging show organizer for accessibility for a wide variety of items
- an office desk organizer to hold often-used dildos, vibes, condoms and lubes
- a simple utensil divider can keep your toys divided up by product or material type
- a plastic desk tray for inside your desk drawer keeps everything organized
- surplus hardware cases not just organize but really look cool

A toolbox can usually be kept closed and locked, safe away from prying eyes and impressionable minds. Tool belts can be worn even during sex to keep all your necessary implements handy. Tackle boxes and craft boxes keep bits clean by keeping dust and dirt off of them. If you keep toys out in the open like in a desk organizer or a utensil drawer divider
